

Name: Kevin Adams

Title: Senior Project Manager

Company: Burns & McDonnell

Number of years with company: 2 years

Company Responsibilities:

Mr. Adams is a Senior Project Manager for the Construction Design Build division in the Atlanta, GA regional office. He graduated with a B.S. in Industrial Engineering from Kennesaw State University in 1989 and with an MBA from Colorado State University in 2004. He is responsible for delivering client success in the Natural Gas market throughout the country and brings over 33 years of experience in the design, management and construction for Transmission and Distribution projects within the Natural Gas industry.

As both an industrial engineer and the Vice President of Operations for a previous utility contractor, Mr. Adams led construction for projects over $50 million while managing the Business Development department. His seasoned experience in managing client relationships and business growth contributed to the development of both the Transmission Division and Business Development Department from inception. He has worked across the Natural Gas industry in the Southeast, working closely with clients in construction and now, engineering consultancy. Mr. Adams brings a passion for building strong, long-term customer relationships and supporting the delivery of solutions throughout all stages of a project.